

Gerald A. Doeksen

Gerald Doeksen is Director of the National Center for Rural Health Works. He is also a Regents Professor and Extension Economist with Oklahoma State University. He has been a pioneer in developing tools to measure the economic impact of the health sector on a local community. His work with the National Center develops tools and conducts train-the-trainer workshops in states to train professionals on how to apply these tools at the local level. During the past three years, he has conducted workshops in over 45 states. The workshops teach the economic impact tool, the community engagement process (including community health assessment), and the health feasibility studies. He has made over 350 regional, national and international presentations. He has published extensively in Health Journals and other publications on this topic. He has also received many awards including the 2002 RUPRI Distinguished Serve Award and the 2003 Priester Award. In 2006 he received the Lifetime Achievement Award from the Southern Agricultural Economics Association and the Bonnie Teater Lifetime Achievement Award from the Southern Rural Development Center

Education : B.S. (1965) Ag Econ, South Dakota State;
 M.S. (1967) Ag Econ, Oklahoma State University;
 Ph.D. (1971), Ag Econ, Oklahoma State University

Experience: Agricultural Economist with Economic Research Service, USDA, 1967-1978;
 Regents Professor, Professor and Associate Professor, Department of Ag Econ, OSU, 1978 – Current.

Assignment: At OSU approximately 75% Extension, 20% Research, 5% Teaching

Publications:	Journal Articles	46
	Experiment Station Publications or other Bulletins	70
	Extension Publications	40
	Community Specific Community Service Reports (About 1,200 since 1978)	50-75 per year since 1978
	Papers Presented at Professional Meetings (About 250 since 1978)	10-15 per year since 1978

Honors 17 National or State honors including
 M.S. Thesis Award by AAEA
 Ph.D Thesis Award by AAEA
 Extension Award by AAEA (1981)
 Extension Award by AAEA (2001)
 Bonnie Teater Award by SRDS (2006)
 Lifetime Achievement Award by SAEA (2006)

Grants Awarded (Almost all of which I was PI): Over 4 million dollars in grants. (Recently approximately $300,000 per year)

Service: Served in 26 National or Regional Office and Committees. Examples include:
 Editor of Southern Journal of Agricultural Economics (1973 – 1975)
 Chairman of Publication of Enduring Quality, AAEA, 1979
 Chairman of Extension Awards Committee, WAEA, 1985
 Project Leader for RUPRI 1998 – Present
 Many Review Panels for CSRS and Federal Grant Reviews
 Served on many State committees and councils. Examples include:

Co-Chair of State Rural Development Council, 1992 – 1999
President of Oklahoma Rural Health Association, 2000 – Present